

We bet that everyone in this room knows of someone who struggled with an eating disorder, but didn't talk about it, not wanting to burden anyone.

Our app, BlooMe changes this, where we found that people were best supported by their communities of shared experiences.

BlooME is a peer-to-peer community story-sharing app where people can speak honestly, anonymously, and safely incorporating daily messages and structured reflection to build a community that resonates.

Nourish your body, Grow your mind. It's time to BlooMe.